A letter was written to the Repatriation Dept on 30th October, 1934 from Alex Proud of "Sutton Veny" 103 Olinda St, Bendigo – son of Mrs Annie Proud, widow of late Private Arthur Ernest Proud. The letter was written saying that his mother had passed away over 12 months ago & they were considering erecting a monument at her grave but wished to know what assistance was given by the Dept to enable the name of deceased soldiers buried abroad to be placed on a memorial. Alex Proud stated he had been informed that "some kind of plaque on a slab is supplied by your Department". Base Records replied to Alex Proud on 2nd November, 1934 & the letter read in part as follows: " it is desired to point out that, as the whole of the expense of providing official headstones in the case of members of the Australian Imperial Force buried abroad is being borne by the Government, which is also responsible for the future care and maintenance of the graves of our Fallen, it is not the intention of the Department to supply relatives with name-plates or other means of commemorating these soldiers elsewhere. There is no objection, however, to your including the particulars of the abovenamed soldier on any private memorial,"

Annie Roberta Proud was buried on 4th November, 1933 at Kangaroo Flat Cemetery (Lockwood Road, Kangaroo Flat, Victoria) in Grave number 3976 (Presbyterian). Private Arthur Ernest Proud is remembered on a headstone with his wife Annie Roberta Proud.

The Defence Department, in 1920/21, contacted the next of kin of the deceased World War 1 soldiers to see if they wanted to include a personal inscription on the permanent headstone at St. John the Evangelist Churchyard at Sutton Veny. Space was reserved for 66 letters only (with the space between any two words to be counted as an additional letter) & the rate per letter was around 3 ½ d (subject to fluctuation).

The expense in connection for the erection of permanent headstones over the graves of fallen soldiers was borne by the Australian Government.

(Information obtained from letters sent to next of kin in 1921)

A letter was sent from Base Records to Mrs A. R. Proud of 103 Olinda Street, Quarry Hill, Bendigo, dated 28th July, 1921, advising that a communication from the Defence Department concerning an inscription that could be placed on her late husband's Headstone (Pte A. E. Proud) in the Churchyard of Sutton Veny had not yet been replied to. The letter advised that if no reply was received within 21 days, it would be taken as indicating that no further action was required.

Private Arthur Ernest Proud does not have a personal inscription on his headstone.

St. John the Evangelist Churchyard, Sutton Veny, Wiltshire, England

During the two world wars, the United Kingdom became an island fortress used for training troops and launching land, sea and air operations around the globe. There are more than 170,000 Commonwealth war graves in the United Kingdom, many being those of servicemen and women killed on active service, or who later succumbed to wounds. Others died in training accidents, or because of sickness or disease. The graves, many of them privately owned and marked by private memorials, will be found in more than 12,000 cemeteries and churchyards. The 26th Division was concentrated at Sutton Veny in April 1915 and No 1 Australian Command was there from the end of 1916 to October 1919. There was also a hutted military hospital of more than 1200 beds at Sutton Veny for much of the war and No 1 Australian General Hospital was stationed there after the Armistice. Sutton Veny (St John) Churchyard contains 168 First World War burials, 167 of them in a plot at the north west corner of the church. Of these, 143 are Australian. There is only one Second World War burial in the churchyard.
